This is my first report that does not mention the reason for delays caused by snow storms. That's a good thing. The moisture is sure to help the farmers and now spring activities can go full force. At this writing it is a great day outside. Hopefully all of our students involved in outdoor activities can benefit from the warm, sunny days.

As the end of school approaches and activities begin to slow it becomes time to shift our thoughts toward next year. With that in mind there are several activities taking place that you should be aware of. The COVID pandemic has had many detrimental effects on the district. However, there has been one benefit. The Federal government has a grant allowing us to spend some funds on projects in the district to help eliminate the threat of COVID affecting the district again. With that in mind, we have asked for help in improving our HVAC systems in the science room and the industrial tech shop. Social distancing is an area we feel can be used to help our kids. Spacing work areas at greater distances in the science room and industrial tech area is another section of the grant we hope to take advantage of and provide improved places for them to work. Replacing some of the current fluorescent lighting with LED lighting will provide a more relaxing environment and thus reduce stress among the students. It is hoped all of the goals developed for this grant will benefit our students and make school a great place to learn.

At the time the newsletter was put together our staff for next year will have been put in place and work has begun with the new members so they will be ready to go when school starts. Statistics indicate there has been an unusual amount of movement in the education field. Reports are that the COVID problem has prompted many teachers to either take early retirement or work in another field. That has caused more vacancies than normal. Therefore, more young teachers have been able to move to other districts. Many districts are experiencing large numbers of vacancies and many have resorted to offering bonuses for new staff members. It is great that the nucleus of our staff has remained in place.

The fact that the majority of our sponsors and coaches for extracurricular activities are returning is another bonus. This is the time of the year coaches normally develop plans for activities throughout the summer. Our kids are really busy with camps, work nights and leagues. All positions should be filled by Board meeting time so the participants can plan their summer.

Along with keeping the students busy during the summer our attention has also turned to our grounds keeping tasks for the district. Our fields need a lot attention. Several of our current patrons and even past students have provided a ton of advice and time toward helping us improve these areas. For example, FFA students have volunteered to do upgrades on the flower beds around the high school and patrons have volunteered to do the same at the junior high/elementary. All this just reinforces how great small communities are for pitching in and getting things done. Thanks.

High School Principal/AD Newsletter

Dear Leyton Families,

April was a busy month for the Brost family. On April 8th we welcomed Henry Dean to our family. Big brothers Parker and Daniel and big sister Quinn were very excited for the arrival of the new baby.

As we close out our time at Leyton, we would like to thank the community for the opportunity to serve as their principal/AD and for their support during our two years here. Even though our time here was brief, the community has made a long-lasting impact on our family and we have formed friendships that will last a lifetime.

When we started this school year I did not envision us making it to the end of the year without a major disruption due to covid. But, here we are ready to wrap up the end of our school year facing only a handful of minor covid related issues. Besides our athletic teams having to wear a mask for a couple periods during the year and a small number of students who were out due to quarantine, I consider Leyton's covid response a success. Thank you to our students, staff and community members for their understanding and support during the school year. Without all of us working together our school year could have turned out very differently. At the beginning of the year when we were developing our plan, we understood that it would be impossible to tell if we did too much, but it would be very obvious if we did too little. I know the protocols from the NSAA and from the school seemed to be too much at times, but it worked. Our kids had their activity seasons and we had our school year.

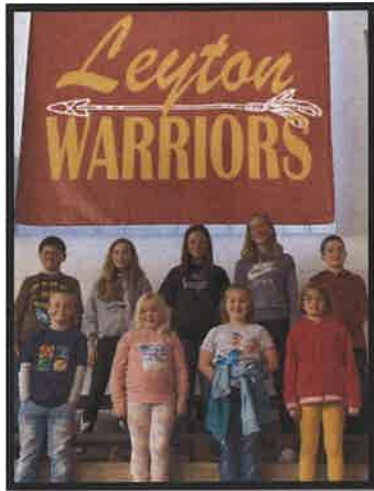

We only have a few weeks left in the school year and as we all know, this time of year is the busiest for our students. As always, plan ahead for absences and encourage your student to keep up to date with assignments.

It is inevitable that we will still have some changes to our activity schedule as our spring weather is unpredictable. To stay up-to-date with all of our activities, go to our school website and facebook page.

Nick Brost

A Message from Mrs. Morgan

I am so excited to be able to say that we are in our final month of school. Not because we are happy that it is almost summer, but because we are so thankful we had the opportunity to teach our students every day in person. While there were many hoops we had to jump through and changes to our normal routine, we persevered and can't THANK all of you enough for your patience and understanding while we worked through our "new normal". As we inch towards our final days of school for students, please check our important dates and website often. We have so many activities and want you all to be present for as many as possible.

Our March Good Citizens are pictured here. Since we had a lovely April snow, our staff allowed us to have our lunch in their staff lounge downstairs.

Mrs. Hansen our NHS Sponsor and art teacher collaborated with Mrs. Jones to provide some mentoring for our preschool story hour at the library. The theme was "It's a Bear!" The NHS students brought stuffed animals and participated in the craft activity and story time. It was a great opportunity and both the big and little kids really enjoyed it.

As we wind down the school year, I just wanted to thank all of you for your support. It truly does take a community to raise children and I am thankful to be part of the Leyton family. I hope you all have a restful summer and are able to take a trip and some time to relax. Even over the summer you can always reach me for any reason, please feel free to call the school at 308-884-2247 or email me at dana.morgan@leytonwarriors.org.

Happy summer! Dana Morgan, K-8 Principal

The power of Positive Attention

What is positive attention?

Positive attention requires a lens shift in which we call out kids for good behavior and ignore (in the moment) the not-so-good. The idea is that for children, parental attention is so powerful that whatever behavior we pay attention to will increase, even if we're telling them to stop. Essentially, rather than chiding them for what they're doing wrong we want to catch kids doing right.

How to?

Try to spell out exactly what they are doing well. For example, you could say "I love how you are sharing your crayons with your sibling" or "it's awesome that you finished your homework before asking to use your tablet." No matter their age, letting kids know that you appreciate their behavior will make them feel good, and when they know exactly what they are being praised for they will be more likely to do it again in the future.

What about bad behavior?

If your child is in danger, intervene. Otherwise, ignore and provide positive attention when they stop. You are sending the message that acting out is not the way for them to get what they want. Later, when things have calmed down, you can circle back around to talk about it.

What has your child been exploring in guidance class?

The Attitude of Gratitude mindset. These 4 elements help teach us the importance of seeking the positives from life experiences and being thankful for all that we have.

1. Treasure Yourself
2. Be More Grateful
3. Thank It Forward
4. Elevate Your Perspective

5 Dos and Don'ts to support the Attitude of Gratitude mindset at home.

1. DO practice gratitude every day. This could be a family journal or verbalizing all the big and small things.
2. Do model saying "thank you" regularly.
3. Don't let the bad times be all bad, believe they help us learn something useful.
4. Do let your children know what you appreciate about them.
5. Do treasure yourself and take care of yourself as a role model for your child.
