A note from the Superintendent and Elementary and Jr. High Principal

Life has a funny way of providing perspective. The way we look at life has everything to do with the way we view every situation. I'm always reminded of this through the use of the story of the two wolves. I wanted to provide the text I'm referring to:

An old Cherokee is teaching his grandson about life. "A fight is going on inside me," he said to the boy. "It is a terrible fight and it is between two wolves. One is evil – he is anger, envy, sorrow, regret, greed, arrogance, self-pity, guilt, resentment, inferiority, lies, false pride, superiority, and ego."

He continued, "The other is good – he is joy, peace, love, hope, serenity, humility, kindness, benevolence, empathy, generosity, truth, compassion, and faith. The same fight is going on inside you – and inside every other person, too."

The grandson thought about it for a minute and then asked his grandfather, "Which wolf will win?"

The old Cherokee simply replied, "The one you feed."

It seems to me that it was appropriate to talk about this story this month considering the challenges we have faced in our community and here at the school as far as health is concerned. Which wolf do we feed? Without a doubt, we have chosen to feed the good at Leyton. I don't know if you remember last month's secret ingredient list, but those ingredients were a powerful force this month again as we learned of another student's fight with cancer. I couldn't believe the power of our community and our school when it comes to togetherness, we were able to immediately address the issue with love and compassion, because we've been through some stuff here at Leyton, we know what it means to care. I wanted to personally thank all of our community members for their outreach over the past few weeks and the generous donations made to the Bayne family.

I also wanted to focus some of the newsletter this month on the great learning experiences and activities of the student body. Here at the elementary and junior high we have been putting in the work to improve our skills on a daily basis. We have a team coming in next week to help support our new math curriculum, and our teachers are actively seeking a new reading curriculum at the school. So it has been great seeing the hard work that everyone is doing academically. Our fall sports teams at the junior high level are now completed and we did some good things on the field and on the court. I was proud of our junior high volleyball team for sticking together and making improvements throughout the year. They didn't have a lot of wins but there were some real bright points along the way. Football at the junior high level was great. We enjoyed a lot of success on the field and finished with only two losses. Six man football is a track meet on grass. I'm very thankful for all the work the students and staff are putting into all of our programming.

November News Letter

Kevin Thomas, principal

The staff continues to read the book "Chop Wood and Carry Water" by Joshua Medcalf. The book is a short read and talks about the process of becoming great.

Medcalf talks about "evil's best weapon." One might think that weapon would be jealousy, anger, pride, envy, or lust, but he goes on to explain evil's best weapon is discouragement.

Everyone gets discouraged from time to time. As a school administrator, I never know what I will encounter on a day to day basis. Some days can be discouraging and frustrating while other days are successful and satisfying. This is one of things I like about my job. Every day brings new learning opportunities; good, bad, encouraging, or discouraging. Whatever the day brings, I embrace it and do the best I can to be the most effective given the circumstances of the day.

Medcalf asks the question, "If you owned a Lamborghini, would you ever put water into the gas tank?" Of course you wouldn't put water in the gas tank. That would ruin the engine. Medcalf's point is whatever fuel you use to power your life determines whether one becomes discouraged. So fuel yourself with encouragement, good thoughts, and kindness and be prepared for every day.

As a Leyton Warrior, what kind of fuel do you put in your gas tank? Some suggestions: get enough sleep each night, do your homework, study for tests, charge your laptop, join a team or a club, and come to school each and every day. By preparing for each day, you increase the chances that your day will be encouraging and satisfying.

Candice Nichols says it like this, "There is no time like the present, and no substitute for being present."

As always, my door is open, so feel free to stop.
